

Trinity Newsletter for 4th - 8th June 2025

On 8th June at 10 a.m. Local Preacher Mr. Francis Carr, from Stowmarket MC, will lead our worship. On 15th June, another Local Preacher, Miss Jenny Benfield who is a member at Ixworth MC, will be leading our worship. Remember, you can see a copy of each quarterly preaching plan when they are published; we are currently just beginning the June-August quarter. Please ask if you would like a copy for yourself.

Also currently being published are the bi-monthly Circuit Newsletter which contains information from all 9 churches across the Circuit. Trinity's own bi-monthly magazine, Forum, is also newly available for June/July. These can be sent to you by email if you ask or printed copies can be made as required.

Our organist David Dean says that he no longer uses a landline and asks that contact be made with him in future either by email or on mobile (see printed newsletter).

Thanks to one of our flower ladies Clare Mellor for the thought provoking displays on Sunday 1st June serving as a continuing reminder of the strife in Gaza. We owe a debt of thanks to all those who beautify our premises weekly.

A full report from Rev. Vaughan Tong on our Christian Aid collections appears in the latest Forum but the total collected by Trinity people this year is £1047.50, including (among other things) the proceeds of two Coffee Mornings of £359 with £40 from the Tuesday evening meeting. There is a further £122 to come in tax returns from Gift Aid.

James McDowell has now finished his A Level exams (phew!) and is once more able to offer his help with gardening and odd jobs. You can contact him on mobile or email (see printed newsletter).

Newer visitors to our congregation may like to know that we have an Induction loop in our church building to help those with a hearing aid or cochlear implant. We also have both large and normal print hymn books for those who would like them for worship services if you find the screen difficult to see. Do let us know if there is any other way we can help you.
